#1 Mini Beasts and Furry Sculptures

In the creative world of the LA based Haas Brothers, there is quite a blurry line between nature-inspired and Where the Wild Things Are beasts are suddenly real, kind of a deal. The dynamic duo, work in paying homage to natural processes while exploring humor, nature, sexuality and science fiction on the way. This time they've conceived psychedelic miniature freaks made of real animal fur, and bronze hands, feet and sex organs.
